Utah State Fair 2015

The State Fair is an annual event that brings our community together with the rest of the state - rural and urban folk alike. This year, there were many exhibits, events and fun that brought out kids of all ages.

The Fair means different things to many people in the Fairpark community. "Does no one else see the Fairgrounds as I see them? Beautiful in their humble but strong malleability. I love the flexibility of these spaces and their untethered usefulness," says Ann Pineda, Fairpark resident and artist. "At the fairgrounds, hundreds of skills are showcased each year. The skillsets in the work i showcase have become a request for these beautiful spaces to be appreciated in a way that is consistent with the history of this place."

Brook Bernier, Fairpark community resident, states "I've discovered that Fair food is a big draw for me. I have visions of Navajo Bread with melted butter and powdered sugar for weeks coming up to the opening day. Something about Fair food - it just brings back so many good memories."

Home Made Snacks!

This month we are offering a couple of ways to make great snacks. One is Fruit Leather (an alternative to Jam for preserving sweet fruit) and the other is Roasted Curried Chickpeas. Kids and adults alike will eat all that is offered of both of these healthy snacks! The trick is making enough to meet the

Pedal In the City

Pedal in the City is a new column to promote and educate everthing about bicycling in Salt Lake City. Increasing numbers of Salt Lake City residents are using pedal power to commute and recreate. Not only is it good exercise, it is environmentally responsible. This month's column is dedicated to providing resources for people who currently cycle or who want to know more about how to incorporate cycling into their lives.
