Hive Pass 2.0

Last year, Salt Lake City, in partnership with the Utah Transit Authority (UTA) started the Hive Pass, a reduced fare pass for residents of Salt Lake City. Hive Pass 1.0 offered Salt Lake City residents with unlimited rides on buses, TRAX, streetcar, and FrontRunner for a cost of $30 per month. The caveat being that residents would have to commit to buy the Hive passes for 12 months. The retail price of a monthly unlimited ride pass on these modes is $189 per month, so residents were saving $159 per month. When the Hive Pass was introduced, the city hoped that 6,000 residents would purchase the pass in its inaugural year. They ended up selling about 3,000.

After the first year pilot of the program, Salt Lake City is back with Hive Pass 2.0. The new Hive pass will let residents ride on buses, TRAX and streetcar lines. FrontRunner was excluded as the city found that most residents who bought Hive passes did not use FrontRunner. This new pass will cost $42 a month (a 50% reduction), but there is not a yearlong commitment. Residents can pay month to month and cancel their Hive Pass at any time. The city has capped the number of available Hive Passes at 3,000 this year on a first come first served basis.

The Hive Pass is a great opportunity for Fairpark residents. With the new Airport TRAX line, many of us are within a few blocks of a TRAX station.

Open House for Homeless Services Site Evaluation Commission

The Homeless Services Site Selection Evaluation Committee sponsored the Open House event on April 29 at the Salt Lake City and County Building. The purpose was to gather public feedback regarding the Community Commitments and Values. Additionally, the committee was seeking input regarding the identified Factors for Success. These values and factors, when combined, will help the committee determine the most appropriate location and configuration of day-to-day homeless services.
